

EAA Zagreb School 2022'

The 3rd edition of the EAA Zagreb Summer School Testis Histology and Pathology for Clinical Andrologists and Embryologists (organized jointly by EAA Training centres Zagreb & Copenhagen) took place June 27-July 1, 2022. Since the School included a lot of hands-on practicals, the maximum number of attendees was 15 (coming from Denmark, Estonia, The Netherlands, Czech Republic, Italy, Hungary, Poland, Turkey, Serbia, Slovenia, USA and Indonesia). This time the School took place at University Hospital Zagreb, and included, among other things, a visit to the operational theatre with live-streaming of TESE operation, practical work on the ICSI station, freezing-thawing of the testicular biopsy (using the rat model), visit pathology and molecular biology laboratory with practical work, and a lot of real-time microscopy of normal and disturbed spermatogenesis as well as testicular tumours. The test results indicated an average 30% improvement of attendees' knowledge. According to the questionnaire filled by attendees, the combined Croatian-Danish team performed very well and got excellent marks. The programme was enriched by attractive microsurgery videos of various spermatozoa retrieval techniques presented by Zsolt Kopa from Hungary (for details, please, see <https://www.andrologyacademy.net/eaa-zagreb-school>).

The School was followed by the 4th Andrology Symposium (organized by the Centre of Excellence for Reproductive and Regenerative Medicine, School of Medicine University of Zagreb and Croatian Society for Andrology), under the auspices of the EAA. The programme included attractive lectures by 6 EAA academicians and one guest from the USA, dealing with clinical, translational and basic andrology, as well as a guided poster tour. Overall, 17 posters on various andrology topics were presented. The Symposium ended with a lively informal discussion of participants late in the evening (for details, please, see <https://www.andrologyacademy.net/past-events/eventdetail/39/-/4th-andrology-symposium>).
